Post-Show Activity Packet

The Fun Doesn't Stop!

We believe that really important stuff happens after each of our shows - the conversations that happen, active and joyful reading, and even playing pretend at home. That's why our company is dedicated to equipping young people and their families with the tools they need to keep the ball rolling after the "curtain" closes on our performances.

That's why we've stuffed this Activity Packet full of ideas, crafts, facts, and games for you to explore and enjoy together as a family after watching our rendition of some of Aesop's most famous fables!

Enjoy, imagine, and have fun!

Who was Aesop?

Tradition has it that Aesop was a Greek slave, and is known today exclusively for the genre of fables ascribed to him.

Legend says that he gained his freedom from his master with his wit and knowledge and even served as riddle solver to a king!

What are Fables?

"Aesop's Fables" mostly feature animals with human characteristics as the main characters, and have remained popular throughout history. They are still used to teach moral lessons today!

Can you list the three fables that we bring to life in our play?

Think Outside of the Box!

In the opening scene of The Fabulous Fable Forest, the actors pretend that a cardboard box is a rocket ship and a pirate ship...

What else can you pretend a cardboard box can be?

Use your imagination to turn a cardboard box into something exciting! You can even use markers to decorate the outside of the box.

It's Puppet Play Time!

Use your puppets to create your own fable! How does the wise owl outwit the sly fox? How does the fox save the owl? You can even create more characters!

The possibilities are endless, and we'd love to see what you come up with!
